Elmer and Lou lived on Boggs Run with her McNabb children and his children, Mildred, Florence and Elwood Cunningham. Together, they had two more children, Jean and Nelson "Buck" Cunningham.

Just three years after Elmer and Lou were married, Mildred McNabb married Edward Burke. They made their home on Logan Street in McMechen and it was there that their first son, Edward Lee Burke, died September 27, 1933 at the age of 10 months.

The other two children of Edward and Mildred Burke were Harry Eugene "Skippy," and Mary Kathryn "Mary Kay."

Ed and Mildred Burke moved to Boggs Run and they eventually lived in this house, which they rented for many years and then bought in 1966 from Guy M. and Elizabeth Marple. Prior to the Marples, the house was owned by Fred Keltz, whose family once owned large tracts of land on Boggs Run.
