

VETERANS BURIED AT MOUNT ZION CEMETERY

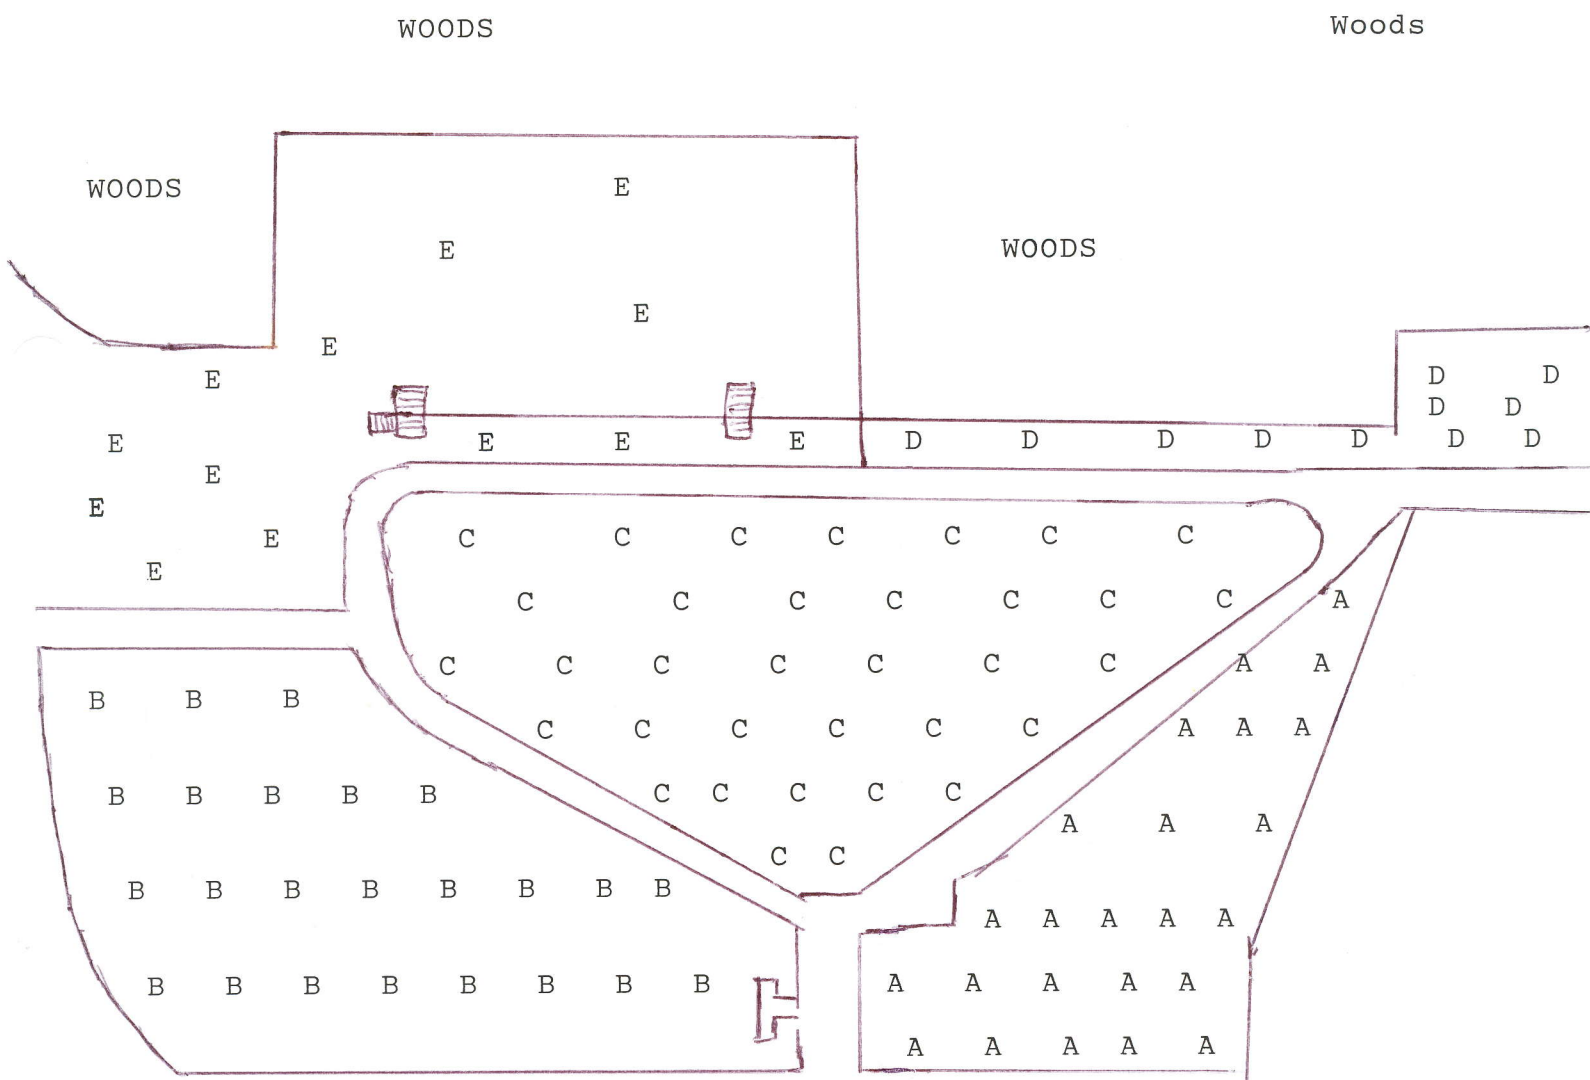

FAIRMONT AVENUE

WHEELING, WEST VIRGINIA

This file was submitted to Linda Fluharty for the Ohio County WVGenWeb Project in 2009 by Larry Bloomfield.

On the following pages you will find the approximate locations of military veteran grave sites that are located at the Mount Zion Cemetary, located on Fairmont Avenue, just outside of Wheeling, West Virginia. Being somewhat familiar with the types of head sones used by veterans helped me in my search, as well as checking NON military veteran type head stones for inscriptions. This being said, I do not purport that this listing includes all veterans buried in this cemetary. Some veterans chose not to mention their service to their country on their headstones. For those that I could not identify, I apologize. As they have every right to be included on this listing as well. I have numbered the graves as I found them, and placed each number on a facismile map of the cemetary. Note that the map is not to scale, and that I have used my own system of identifying the different sections of the cemetary by using the letters A through E. Also note that due to weathering, falling over, sinking into the ground, and other problems, that I have noted only the names and information on the headstones that I could read. Some stones had only partial legible information on them, and others were completely unreadable. Being hallowed ground, I made my observations only by reading and the light touching of the headstones. This survey was made in the month of May 2009, by myself, Lawrence E. Bloomfield.

Unoffical map of Mount Zion Cemetary, created by Lawrence E. Bloomfield for the purpose of locating military veteran grave sites. The map is not to scale, and I have used my own lettering system to denote the seperate sections of the grave yard. Note that the cemetary extends into the woods, but I have yet to locate any sites there as yet. The sections are lettered A through E, as designated on the map below.

This is a listing of Veterans buried at the Mount Zion Cemetery located on Fairmont Avenue, near Wheeling, West Virginia. They are listed in alphabetical order, followed by their assigned sectional letter and number. Only those veterans with complete names are on this list.
